

McDonald's Olympic Champion Kids

MAX NEWTON

Max Newton is at the top of his class at Queen Victoria Annex in Vancouver, British Columbia. Entering into Grade 6, Max has spent most of his 10 years demonstrating his love of sports and amazing leadership abilities.

As captain of the school's first junior division inter-school soccer team, Max led his team to a third place finish last year. He was also named MVP for his efforts and great attitude during the competition. In addition to soccer, Max competes in cross country and track and field and also plays in an after-school basketball program.

Outside of school, Max has been an All-star player throughout his Little League baseball career, and can also be found serving as the umpire for local teams. Max is also an avid skier, captain of his Atom hockey team and volunteers at the local community centre during baseball clinics.

Max has also acted as the programmer for an enrichment group that worked with computerized Lego, has performed in school plays and student films and held a variety of leadership roles, including Kindergarten student buddy and lunch monitor.

When Max's school was chosen to represent the 2010 Paralympic Games, he became the school's unofficial spokesperson, showcasing his spirit and passion for the Games.

As one of two McDonald's Champion Kids from Canada, Max is looking forward to the 2008 Olympic Summer Games where he will experience the Games unlike any other spectator. While in Beijing, Max will have the opportunity to meet athletes, visit cultural sites, participate in an exclusive tour of the Athletes Village and interact with other kids from around the globe.